SOURCE EVALUATIONS ARE DEFINITIVE. APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TENTATIVE.

1. During April 1955, no diamond dies for wire drawing were produced at the VEB Habelwerk Koepenick's subsidiary factory in Berlin-Adlershof. No rough diamonds or other stones were bought and no copper was available for the spool-winding department. 25X1
2. Most of the employees for Adlershof have been transferred to the main factory, VEB Habelwerk Koepenick, and a few male employees have been found temporary work on a site for a children's playground. There have been few dismissals, however, because the factory expects to start production again in June 1955 when VEB Habelwerk Koepenick is scheduled to receive additional orders from the USSR.
